Woodbury University’s Academic Support Team

Updated September 11, 2013

Evelyn Alfaro, M.A., is a Psychology graduate from Woodbury University and a 2010 Master’s in Arts in Organizational Leadership graduate. Since August of 2000 she has worked in various offices on campus including Financial Aid, Registrar, and the Office of Student Development. As an Academic Advisor, she provides supplemental advising support for students in all undergraduate programs and she supervises the Academic Peer Mentor program. As the Early Alert Specialist, Evelyn works closely with staff and faculty to provide academic intervention services for students at risk. Evelyn also serves as adjunct faculty teaching Personal and Professional Development (PPDV) courses.

(818)252.5129 Evelyn.Alfaro@woodbury.edu

Rebecca Devereaux, M.S., joined Woodbury in 2008 and serves as Assistant Dean for Academic Support Services and coordinates Tutoring Services, Students with Disabilities Services, and Continued Probation. She coordinates the Personal and Professional Development (PPDV) 100 Transition to College courses for all freshmen and serves as adjunct faculty. She works with the International Student Support Team and oversees and supports the good work of the OSD academic advising staff. Campus-wide, she oversees the Faculty-OSD Advising team and coordinates the Registration drive each semester. Rebecca has worked at both the university and the community college level, and earned her bachelor’s degrees in Public Relations and Interdisciplinary Social Sciences from Florida State University. She earned her master’s degree in Education from FSU as well and is currently pursuing a Ph.D. in Education at Claremont Graduate University.

(818) 252.5122  rebecca.devereaux@woodbury.edu

Teresa Young, Ph.D., joined the Woodbury community in May 2013 and serves as our full-time Disabilities Coordinator, and specializes in learning strategies. Dr. Young brings to Woodbury a strong background in clinical psychology and educational therapy. She will be assisting Woodbury students with special needs (mobility and non-mobility disabilities) as well as providing resources for faculty and staff in their support of these students. As a learning specialist, Dr. Young will also provide insight into a variety of the Academic Support programs offered by the Office of Student Development, and be a resource for faculty as well.

(818) 394-3345  teresa.young@woodbury.edu

Academic Advisor/SOAR Coordinator (TBA)
Hiring Fall 2013

Evelyn Alfaro, M.A., is a Psychology graduate from Woodbury University and a 2010 Master’s in Arts in Organizational Leadership graduate. Since August of 2000 she has worked in various offices on campus including Financial Aid, Registrar, and the Office of Student Development. As an Academic Advisor, she provides supplemental advising support for students in all undergraduate programs and she supervises the Academic Peer Mentor program. As the Early Alert Specialist, Evelyn works closely with staff and faculty to provide academic intervention services for students at risk. Evelyn also serves as adjunct faculty teaching Personal and Professional Development (PPDV) courses.

(818)252.5129 Evelyn.Alfaro@woodbury.edu

Rebecca Devereaux, M.S., joined Woodbury in 2008 and serves as Assistant Dean for Academic Support Services and coordinates Tutoring Services, Students with Disabilities Services, and Continued Probation. She coordinates the Personal and Professional Development (PPDV) 100 Transition to College courses for all freshmen and serves as adjunct faculty. She works with the International Student Support Team and oversees and supports the good work of the OSD academic advising staff. Campus-wide, she oversees the Faculty-OSD Advising team and coordinates the Registration drive each semester. Rebecca has worked at both the university and the community college level, and earned her bachelor’s degrees in Public Relations and Interdisciplinary Social Sciences from Florida State University. She earned her master’s degree in Education from FSU as well and is currently pursuing a Ph.D. in Education at Claremont Graduate University.

(818) 252.5122  rebecca.devereaux@woodbury.edu

Teresa Young, Ph.D., joined the Woodbury community in May 2013 and serves as our full-time Disabilities Coordinator, and specializes in learning strategies. Dr. Young brings to Woodbury a strong background in clinical psychology and educational therapy. She will be assisting Woodbury students with special needs (mobility and non-mobility disabilities) as well as providing resources for faculty and staff in their support of these students. As a learning specialist, Dr. Young will also provide insight into a variety of the Academic Support programs offered by the Office of Student Development, and be a resource for faculty as well.

(818) 394-3345  teresa.young@woodbury.edu

Academic Advisor/SOAR Coordinator (TBA)
Hiring Fall 2013